ACTIVITIES AT MEMORIAL

The Annual School of Missions will begin for the Memorial Methodist Church Sunday evening. At 6 o'clock a Fellowship, covered-dish supper will start the annual event. The study - discussion, based on the book; "The Church and Medical Missions," will be presented at 6:45 P. M. by Miss Faye Wood. The study will deal largely with Medical Missions around the world, emphasizing in particular activities in Africa. Africa now has "Thirteen Free and Independent States," corresponding to the Original Thirteen States of our United States. This vast continent is large enough to contain the United States, China and India. Following World War I only two countries, Ethiopia and Liberia, were independent. So this ancient "Dark Continent is rapidly becoming "light." It is imperative that every forward-looking Christian citizen study and help the people of this "Awakening Continent' to come to a true knowledge of the Light and Life of the World.

The pastor will present an illustrated message on Alaska during the 7:30 o'clock service. The Sanctuary Choir will present special music, and Mrs. Jolly Scott Moore will preside. Alaska, discovered by Captain Vitus Bering for Peter the Great of Russia, in 1741, is now one of the 50 states of our United States. Methodism entered this territory in 1886, and next year the new Alaska Methodist University will be opened, the first church-related college to be established in this new state. Join with others Sunday evening, as we rejoice in the accomplishments for Christ and Christianity in one of the newer mission fields. On succeeding Sunday evenings, the pastor will speak on Methodism in Hawaii, in Pakistan and India, and in Central America.

A new feature of the School of Missions this year is the discussion for young people's meeting at 6:45 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. R. G. Hill, and the discussion groups for juniors and the 3rd year primaries, under the leadership of Mrs. J. N. Jennings. The young people and children are urged to be present for the Fellowship Supper.

POULTRYMEN TO FACE HEAVY COMPETITION

Competition between poultry and the red meats will be heavier in 1960 than it has been for several years, say agricultural economists at VPI.

The hog cycle is close to its peak, and larger supplies of pork will be available during the first half of 1960. The slaughter of beef cattle is increasing, and will continue to do so through the next year or so. The result will be lower pork and beef prices.

Lower red meat prices, coupled with an increase in disposable consumer income, point to declining demand for poultry.

Little hope is seen for any substantial increase in broiler prices. Production costs will be relatively stable, if there is a freight rate reduction, feed costs may drop, but this drop will tend to be partially offset by increases in the cost of other supplies. Wage rates are expected to rise. Broiler production for the nation during 1960 will approximate that of 1959 if the present rate of output is maintained.

If cutbacks were increased, the expected price level would be 15 to 17 cents per pound. However, the expected price level is now around 11 to 16 cents, depending on the degree of cutbacks actually experienced.

Farm prices for turkeys in 1960 are not apt to improve over those of 1959.

The economists note a trend towards increased egg production in the Southeastern part of the U. S., where alternative opportunities for inverting land, labor and capital probably are not as great as in other sections. The South Atlantic region, of which Virginia is a part, is expanding poultry enterprises. The price level for this region will probably be lower in 1960 than in 1959.

SILO UNLOADERS SAVE LABOR

Silo unloaders and other automatic feed-handling equipment can also be a profitable investment for large to dairy cows in herds numbering 35 head or more.

W. S. Griffith, dairy specialist at VPI, passes along reports from U. S. Department of Agriculture studies which show that in herds smaller than about 35 cows, hand feeding of green silage is less expensive. In larger herds, the automatic unloader increases labor efficiency so that mechanical unloading costs only about 2/3 as much as labor with a herd of 60 cows, and half as much with 100 cows.

These estimates apply to farms where feed is ration of 5-6 green silage and 1/6 hay for 6 months of the year, and where labor is priced at $2 an hour. The studies indicate that the silage handling job can be done with either a self-unloading wagon or a mechanical bunk-feeder.

Griffith says that in applying these results to their own farms, Virginia dairymen should realize that mechanization is only an added expense unless the labor it replaces is used profitably on other jobs. If the dairyman forgets this, he might conceivably find himself surrounded by labor-saving devices that add to his comfort but increase his cost of production to such a point that he drives himself out of the dairy business.

Chinese Immgration

The "Chinese confession program" of the Immigration Service has proved remarkable successful in thwarting the illegal entry of Chinese aliens. This is what Commissioner J. M. Swing reported in a year-end statement to Attorney General William P. Rogers.

The "Chinese confession program" was stared in 1956 to deal with the "ingenious schemes" used by Chinese in this country to bring in others.

Best Seller Out

It will not be sold to the movies, or made into a stage play, but there is a book just out that will be a best - seller for the next three months.

The book is the 1960 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax," an aid for individual taxpayers in filling out their 1959 returns.

Between now and mid - February sales will be at their height.

Social Security

Social security taxes paid by 75,000,000 persons have increased as of January 1st, 1960.

The maximum increase on covered workers will be $24 a year. There will be a similar maximum increase on employers for each worker. For the self-employed, the maximum is $36.

The new rate will be 3 per cent on the first $4,800 of annual earnings for employees and employers, and 4 1-2 per cent for the self-employed up to the same annual earnings.

Aid To Sportsmen

The Bureau of Land Management's offices throughout the West will take the initiative in working out agreement with private landowners to assure access routes for sportsmen and others to large blocks of the public domain, the Department of the Interior has announced.

105,000 Naturalized

A total of 105,000 immigrants became American citizens in 1959.

The total, however, was under the number naturalized during any of the previous two years—119,000 in 1958, and 138,000 in 1957.

The Immigration and Naturalization Services estimate that 260 other immigrants, who have not received citizenship as yet, are in the United States.

Rise is forecast for railroad freight.

"NO OPPOSITION NEEDED"

The Times-Virginian has always admired and cherished the public service of the Hon. A. Willis Robertson, incumbent Junior United States Senator from Virginia. We have considered it a privilege to accept his leadership on issues of the day, and recognize that in our great Junior Senator, we had a valued public servant, and a solid representative who rose above petty politics to reach the plane of a true top American of his generation.

We have never had occasion to find fault with Willis Robertson as an honest and honorable representative of Virginia in the Senate.

Willis Robertson's term is now up for a public vote next year. Do we want to continue him as our Junior Senator or not. Now, we are always in favor of free elections, and readily grant the privilege of candidacy to any citizen. But, we are frank to say, that if A. Willis Robertson makes himself available for another six-year term in the United States Senate, it would be "a hard row" for anyone to defeat him, either in the primary or the general election.

Senator Robertson's career has had all the elements of a dedicated public service. As a state official and later in Washington, he has found the opportunity to devote his experience and ability to the filed of banking and currency, use of public resources, defense and the general financial soundness of our nation. He has devoted his career to these fields, and our nation can well rank him as one of our top experts in matters of this field. It has been the privilege of the editor of this paper to sit in the Senate gallery, and to listen as A. Willis Robertson explained and made presentment, as to the details of national policy, not on one, but on many occasions. Always we have come away proud that Virginia had such a sound thinker as our representative.

Like many of us, Senator Robertson is gaining some years. But, we can scan the Old Dominion, and we cannot find any among our countless citizens who could better represent us as Senator.

The Times-Virginian is proud to predict that if A. Willis Robertson offers for re-election next year, that he will be returned to a great office with a great vote of confidence.

Homemakers Items

One trademark of a successful homemaker is to serve every meal from an attractive table, says Miss Katherine Habel, home economist at VPI.

Simplicity is the keynote of an attractive table, says Miss Habel. The mats, plates, glassware, and centerpiece need to be in harmony with your home, the life you lead, and with each other.

The centerpiece may be placed at the end or side of a buffet or a table which is against the wall. This may make possible more comfortable seating. The centerpiece may be a basket or fruit and greens, or a container of flowers suspended from the wall, It should express the formality of the occasion. You may like to use candles, Whatever your decision about candles, be sure the table is lighted adequately. Candles should be firmly fixed in candle holders and tall enough so they cannot ignite surroundings. Greens used at Greens should be used at the base the base of candles should be fireproofed.

The principles of good design are important. For example, richly decorated dinnerware is most effective against the background of a plain table covering.

Sometimes different mats can be used together if colors and textures are selected carefully If there are not enough dishes of one kind, do not worry. The service plates and salad plates are often different from the dinner plates, bread and butter plates, cups and saucers. You may use different kinds of dishes for each course during the meal. An interesting variety of dishes helps to make an interesting meal.

Curiosity, when you boil it down, is the basis for knowledge.

Virginia Cow Sets Record For Butterfat Production

A Virginia cow, owned by J. E. Taylor, of Orange, has set a record for butterfat production in the Holstein breed.

The 17-year-old Holstein, Minnow Creek Eden Delight, has produced 246,979 pounds of milk and 10,671 pounds of butterfat, and is the first registered Holstein to complete five official yearly records of more than 1,000 pounds of butterfat on twice-a-day milking.

The production record made by Delight in her first 17 years is equal to the lifetime production of 10 average Virginia dairy cows.

Mr. Taylor, owner of Meadowfarm Dairy, bought Delight at Lakefield Farms, Clarkston, Mich. The cow has been under the herdsmanship of David Folwler, herdsman at Meadowfarm.

Supervising the weighing, sampling and testing of Delight's world famous record was F. K. Pugh, the Orange County Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisor.

Commenting on the achievement, W. S. Griffith, dairy specialist at VPI, says Virginia dairy cows are adding to their laurels year after year. "Production testing, intelligent culling, wise feeding, and selective breeding enable Virginia dairymen to make their business pay."

I THANK THEM ALL

(Note: Thanks to Mrs. Bertha Martin for the following:)

So many friends have touched my life . . In one way or another . . I feel that everybody is . . My sister or my brother . . They all have been so good to me — That such has been a blessing . . And abundant is the gratitu . . . That I would be expressing — I thank them for their letters that . . Have brought me so much pleasure . . And for their dear companionship . . That I will always treasure — I cannot pay them back in full . . However much I serve them . . But with the best that I can do . . I hope I may deserve them.

Lime Plant No. 2 News

Happy New Year to all! May the year of 1960 be one less tragic than 1959.

Mrs. Sue Johnston spent Christmas Day with her son, Billy and family, in Norfolk, Va.

On Sunday, Dec, 27, they went to Cincinnati, Ohio, for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, June and Bill Brown. They returned to Virginia Wednesday.

Kenneth Moore, of Beckley, W. Va., was the guest of his mother Saturday and Sunday, and was at Mt. Comfort Church for the Dedication of the Organ given by her family. All of her children were there, and all grandchildren except Warren, whose home is in California, and Clayton and wife Alice, who were at the Virginia Baptist Hospital with Mr. Marshall Cunningham, and family. Mr. Cunningham had a heart attack early Sunday A. M. He is improving and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Visitors for the Dedication were Dr. and Mrs. Chas. F. James, of Appomattox; Mrs, Carlton Harvey and Virginia Lee, of Lynchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Howlette Martin, of Spout Spring; Mrs. Laura Pettyjohn, and grandson, of Stapleton; Jennie Kern, of Lynchburg, and Miss Carolyn Dorn, of North Carolina.

Rev. Aaron Smith and Miss Carolyn Dorn were the dinner guests of Mrs. J. C. Moore, the Graydon Martins and Hubbard Moores on Sunday.

Larry Moore has chicken pox, and had to miss school Monday. Hope he will be back soon.

Marshall Cunningham, Jr., is expected home this week, for a leave from duty off Cape Cod.

Mrs. E. K. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Beverley Martin and Mrs. O. W. Martin, Sr., were guests of Mrs. Irene and Lucy Adams in Farmville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Martin, Lucy Lewis and Mary Lou were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Martin.
